PCMC Welcomes Andre Beaudoin to the Aquaflex Team

GREEN BAY, Wis. — December 17, 2010 — Mark Gillis, Global Sales Director for printing and folding converting at Paper Converting Machine Company (PCMC), has announced the addition of a new member to the PCMC Aquaflex team. Andre Beaudoin joins the printing sales team as National Sales Leader, North America. Beaudoin will sell directly to customers in North America, while leading the Aquaflex new machine sales team in the growth and expansion of this key product line.

“Andre comes to PCMC with many years of proven experience selling capital equipment to the narrow web inline printing and converting industry,” Gillis stated. “The addition of Andre strengthens our commitment to this industry. We are very excited to have Andre help continue our efforts in building a strong American company.”

In September 2009, Barry-Wehmiller acquired F.L. Smithe Machine Co., Inc. of Duncansville, Pa., a 105-year-old manufacturer of envelope converting and printing machinery that includes its well-known Aquaflex narrow web printing presses. The company was integrated with PCMC, furthering its commitment to manufacturing and marketplace leadership in the flexographic printing industry.
