PCMC's Harper Road Show – A Tremendous Success!

GREEN BAY, Wis. — April 22, 2011 — Paper Converting Machine Company (PCMC) recently hosted the Harper Road Show, a seminar series for the flexographic printing industry. The event was a tremendous success, welcoming more than 195 visitors from around the world to PCMC's global headquarters in Green Bay.

The Road Show was held exclusively for PCMC's flexible packaging and label printing customers. Live demonstrations of the Aquaflex narrow web ELS-D dual servo inline press and the Fusion wide web CI press highlighted PCMC's technologically advanced printing presses.

Some of the comments made by participants:

"I've attended other events this year. No event had better presentations, machinery demonstrations, or the level of professionalism and hospitality shown by PCMC."

"PCMC put on a terrific event last week. Thanks for allowing me to attend."

With both the Aquaflex and Fusion press lines, PCMC is unique as a supplier with the ability to show a range of solutions from narrow to wide web flexo, inline to CI presses. The state-of-the-art Fusion wide web CI press and the Aquaflex narrow web ELS-D dual servo inline press offer compelling solutions to current and future business challenges.

The seminar series truly set the stage for attendees to witness the future of flexographic printing. Visitors acknowledged that PCMC has exceeded market expectations with the Aquaflex ELS-D and the Fusion press, which represents an investment in uptime that far surpasses competitive press designs.

PCMC proudly manufactures competitive presses for the global market in Green Bay, Wisconsin, USA.
